The Pas Collegiate high school classes operated out of The Pas School ("Red Brick") from 1925-24 and then were transferred to a new high school, The Pas Collegiate Institute, in 1954. Grades 9-12 were later transferred to the new Margaret Barbour Collegiate Institute, which was opened in 1968. The T.P.C.I. building was converted to a junior high school and renamed Mary Duncan Junior High. It burned down in 1971.
